DRAW A LITTLE. MAKE IT YOURS.

A curled-up cat

Moderate | A sleeping pose built around a broad curl

Dark lines are new. Gray lines were drawn in an earlier stage.

1. Draw a broad back curving down toward the floor, leaving the front open.
2. Add a small pointed-eared head at the left end.
3. Draw the cheek and chin to close the lower head.
4. Add the broad curled tail on the right. Erase the body and chin edges hidden behind it.
5. Draw two closed eyes and a tiny nose on the tilted face.
6. Add a front paw under the chin and one folded rear-paw line.
7. Add a few short fur marks, keeping the face and tail clear.
8. Draw a shallow cushion underneath, leaving a small gap around the cat.

Try this fix: If the pose is hard to read, enlarge the tail curl and remove extra body marks. The back should be one clear arc.
