

DRAW A LITTLE. MAKE IT YOURS.

An owl on a branch

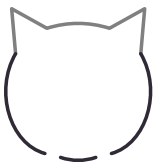

Moderate | Face discs, folded wings and a leafy perch

Dark lines are new. Gray lines were drawn in an earlier stage.

1. Draw the upper head with two small ear points and a shallow dip.
2. Continue the sides into a rounded body, leaving small gaps at the feet.
3. Draw two large face discs inside the head.
4. Add pupils and a small pointed beak between the discs.
5. Draw a long folded wing along each side of the body.
6. Add three short feather curves on the belly and three toes on each foot.
7. Draw a branch passing below the feet, with a smaller fork at the right.
8. Add two leaves to the fork and short vein lines inside them.

Try this fix: If the eyes feel crowded, reduce the pupils before changing the face discs. Keep the beak between, not inside, the discs.
