DRAW A LITTLE. MAKE IT YOURS.

A sitting fox

Easy | A pointed face, seated body and wrapped tail

Dark lines are new. Gray lines were drawn in an earlier stage.

1. Draw a low, pointed face, leaving its upper edge open.
2. Close the head with two upright ears and a dip between them.
3. Add a rounded seated body below the head.
4. Draw a broad tail beside the body and a small tip inside it.
5. Add two eyes, a small nose and short inner-ear lines.
6. Mark a chest patch and two front paws. Leave the rest uncluttered.

Try this fix: If the fox looks like a cat, lengthen the cheek points slightly and make the tail broader.
